

The Peacock

By Finlay Milton

All bow down.

He is coming.

All bow down.

The magnificent emperor has arrived.

In his glimmering, emerald green

Gown of Argose's eyes.

No other person or creature

Can beat his beauty.

He pads softly across the ground

Wearing his ocean blue suit of feathers,

Presenting his bright green fan.

Announcing he is the best in the land!